Ireland	Central Bank of Ireland (Central Bank)	January 1, 2015	Delaware	This designation shall be valid for five years (absent a material change in circumstances), after which the Central Bank will be re-evaluated under the provisions of the Qualified Jurisdiction Process.
Japan	Financial Services Agency (FSA)	January 1, 2015	California	This designation shall be valid for five years (absent a material change in circumstances), after which the FSA will be re-evaluated under the provisions of the Qualified Jurisdiction Process.
Switzerland	Financial Market Supervisory Authority (FINMA)	January 1, 2015 (The NAIC originally approved FINMA as a Conditional Qualified Jurisdiction for a one-year period effective January 1, 2014.)	Connecticut	This designation shall be valid for five years (absent a material change in circumstances), after which FINMA will be re-evaluated under the provisions of the Qualified Jurisdiction Process.
United Kingdom	Prudential Regulation Authority of the Bank of England (PRA)	January 1, 2015 (The NAIC originally approved the PRA as a Conditional Qualified Jurisdiction for a one-year period effective January 1, 2014.)	New York	This designation shall be valid for five years (absent a material change in circumstances), after which the PRA will be re-evaluated under the provisions of the Qualified Jurisdiction Process. The NAIC will continue to monitor the use of schemes of arrangements, and if a solvent scheme of arrangement is ever used to involuntarily commute the obligations of a U.S. ceding company, the NAIC will initiate a review of the PRA's designation as a Qualified Jurisdiction.

Qualified U.S. Accredited Jurisdictions

Pursuant to the NAIC Credit for Reinsurance Model Law (#785), U.S. jurisdictions that meet the requirement for accreditation under the NAIC financial standards and accreditation program shall be recognized as qualified jurisdictions. A list of U.S. jurisdictions that have met the requirements established under the accreditation program and are currently accredited is available on the NAIC Financial Regulation Standards and Accreditation (F) Committee web page: http://www.naic.org/committees_f.htm.
